Pratt Family.

To all and singular as well Nobles and gentills as others to whome theis presentes shall come: William Camden, Clarenceulx King of Armes of the South, East, and west partes of this Realme of England from the riuer of Trent Southwardes sendeth greeting in our Lord God euerlastinge. Among many and sundrie monumentes deuised by our prudent progenitors to commend the memorie of men of worth and good desert to succeeding ages, It is notorious that the cheifest and most vsual hath bin the bearing of figures in shieldes commonlie called Armes, both as euident demonstrations of their vertues and rewardes of the same: That for their commendable seruice to their Prince and Countrie in warre or peace they may in their liues receave due honour, and deriue the same after their death successiuely to their posteritie. In which respect whereas Ralfe Pratt of Hatherne in the Countye of Leicester hath desired me to make search in the office of Armes what Armes he may lawfully beare without preiudice of any other, I being enformed that the said Ralfe Pratt, by Gods blessing and vertue which onely enobleth men, is sufficiently enobled, and performeth all seruices to his Prince and Countrie as other gentlemen doe, att his request haue made search accordinglie, and doe finde that he may lawfullie beare in a Sheild Azure Three Besantes, with as many Martletts thereon of the first, a Cheife Or, and for his Creast upon the healme on a wreath of his collours, a demy Enycorne Or, supporting a lozange Azure, mantled Gules, doubled siluer, as more plainly appeareth depicted in the margent wch Armes and Creast with every part and parcell thereof I the said King of Armes by power and authoritye to my Office annexed under the great Seale of England doe by theis presents ratefie, allow, and confirme unto the said Ralfe Pratt and to his posteritie with their due differences for ever. And he, or they the same to vse, beare, or shew fourth in Sheild, Coate Armor, or otherwise according to the auntient lawes of Armes at his or their pleasure for evermore without contradiction or controulment of any person or persons whatsoever. In witness whereof I the said King of Armes have hereunto sett my hand and Seale of Office the Three and Twentith day of August, Anno Dom: 1601, And in the Three and ffortith yeare of the raigne of our Soueraigne Lady Elizabeth by the grace of God Queene of England ffraunce and Ireland defender of the ffaith, &c.

Whereas Anthony Collett, of Anthony Collett, late of Westerfeild, in the County of Suffolke, sonne Gentleman, deceased, and Samuell Collett, Sonne of Philologus Collett, second Brother to the last named Anthony, late of Westerfeild, also deceased, Have desired mee to Assigne vnto Them such Armes and Creast as they may lawfully beare, Know yee therefore that I have thought fitt to Assigne vnto them and either of them the Armes hereafter mentioned, viz. : Sable, on a Chevron ingrailed betweene three Hinds trippant Argent as many Annuletts of the first. And for a Creast, On a Helmet and Wreath of Their Colours a Hind's head coupe Argent, gorged with a Coller ingrailed Sable, mantled Gules, doubled Argent, As in the Margent more lively is depicted, Which Armes and Creast as before expressed, I the said Clarenceux, by Power and Authority of my Office, to me granted by my Letters Pattents vnder the Greate Seale of England, Doe by these presents Assigne, Give, and Grant vnto the said Anthony Collett and Samuell Collett, and vnto either of them, and vnto the Heires of the Bodie of them and either of them lawfully begotten. To be by them and every of them borne with their due Differences according to the Lawes of Armes for ever. In witnesse whereof I have hereunto affixed the Seale of my Office and subscribed my Name.
